He says the subject of greatest interest to the farmers in that seetion is irrigation; they are confident that three-fourths of the county can be irrigated largely by the underflow. They also propose to build reservoirs along the Arkansas river n which to collect the surplus water. The soil in that section is rich and all that is needed is moisture; the people out there have great faith in the future of that country. Mr. Mohler says that one of the most profitable crops which has ever been produced in Kansas is alfalfa, which is grown with great uccess along the Arkansas. An acre produces ten bushels, which

Valley Falls Bank Robber Shot to Death While Resisting Arrest. He Enjoyed His Ill-tiotten Gains About Twelve Hours-A Little Too Careless.

MERIDEN, Kan., March 3 .- The citizens of this quiet little town were wild with excitment yesterday over the shooting and killing of a man supposed to be Robert Robert-son by officers from Valley Falls. Saturday a young man of medium build and light complexion dressed n semi-cowboy cestume with leather coat and heavy cap was in and around Valley Fails. He visited the banks without transacting any business; bought a red bandana at one of the dry goods stores; hired a rig and drove about the town and late in the afternoon returned to the bank of Hicks, Gephart & Co., with his red handkerchief bound over his mouth. He asked the eashier to atten him to warm by the bank stove. The stranger remained several hours, explaining that he had neuralgia and wished to see Dr. Gephart, one of the bankers.

The eashier completed his work and was on the point of putting the money in the vault when the stranger covered him with two big revolhands. Cashier Conn laid down the money, about $3,000. The robber also compelled his victim to give him the door key and backed out ocking the door after him. could, informed the officers and telegraphed the description of the robber in several directions. At 11:30 o'clock that night the deperado walked into the waiting room of the Santa Fe here and greeted the operator with:

"I'm a elick 'un." Telegraph Operator Taylor heard those words addressed to him by a stranger while he was receiving messages at the railway station. He paid no attention to the remark until he had completed the message on which he was engaged, which read

The operator looked up and nearly lost his breath when he saw stand-ing before him the very man des-cribed in the dispatch. He did not reveal the fact of the recognition, but merely agreed with the stranger that he was a "slick 'un." The stranger inquired the time of the next train for Atchison, and asked where he could put up for the night. The operator directed him to a hotel where the "slick 'uu" took a room without registering, requesting that he be called at 5 o'clock in the morning in time for the Atchison train.

Local police officers, Smith and Summerfield, who had also received instructions from Valley Falls to arrest any suspect, were informed by the operator of the presence of the stranger at the hotel. Arming themselves with Winchester rifles they went to the hotel, waited under the "slick 'un's" window until 12 o'clock, and then going to the betel office acquainted the proprietor with their intention to arrest his

OUR HOG PRODUCTS Swine will always be a conspicnous feature in agriculture. There is steady consumption of pork products. We are a pork eating people. Upon every table there is more or less pork in some shape, and upon avery table there are pork production of some kind constantly. The consumption, therefore, is reliable. But, further than this, on many tables pork is the chief meat the year round. Then the production of pork is about as cheap as any meat we produce. The hog consumes considerable that would be othereonsiderable that would be other-wise wasted; and when corn is high, the price of perk usually cerres-ponds. We may confidentially de-pend upon our swine, therefore, to do as well, years together, as any other domestic animal will do. Disease has been the great drawback to our swine husbandry, but we beinbreeding, and a more natural sys-tem of feeding, will protect us from disease in a very large measure.
